

Placenta Encapsulation

Service Description & Contract

Placenta Encapsulation Description

Placenta encapsulation is the process of preparing the mother's placenta after the birth of her baby(ies) (by separating the membranes and umbilical cord from the placenta and rinsing and draining maternal and fetal blood) and dehydrating it to then be ground and placed into capsules for the mother to ingest as she sees fit. The ingestion of the placenta is known as "placentophagy." The purpose of placentophagy by the mother is to reintroduce the beneficial vitamins, minerals, hormones, proteins, and other nutrients to her body following labor and birth to help restore a more balanced body function, prevent "baby blues" and the more serious postpartum depression, increase breast-milk production, shorten healing time, increase maternal energy levels, and provide an over-all feeling of wellness to aid in the transition between pregnancy and the early postpartum period in the woman who has just given birth.

Client Responsibility

It is the client's responsibility to notify WDS as soon after the birth as possible (preferably the same-day as the birth itself) to request pick-up of the placenta(s) by WDS at the location previously agreed upon by both parties (_____). Failure to do so may result in delayed placenta preparation and encapsulation and may cause decreased potency of nutrients, hormones, and other beneficial attributes of the placenta(s), and even spoilage of the placenta(s) which would render it unusable for encapsulation.

It is also the client's responsibility to discuss release of her placenta(s) after her birth from the establishment where she delivers and to ensure proper storage of her placenta(s) in a refrigerator or cooler with the placenta(s) placed on ice until it can be picked up or delivered to WDS for preparation and encapsulation.

It is also the client's responsibility to inform WDS of any known blood-borne illness(es) or other health issues that I, Ashley Motzenbecker, may become infected with through contact of bodily fluids (specifically maternal and fetal blood and amniotic fluid), such as HIV, hepatitis, STD's, etc.

- If the client chooses to terminate the contract, thereby voiding the agreement for placenta encapsulation by WDS, the client must contact WDS to terminate the contract BEFORE WDS acquires the placenta(s) originally intended for encapsulation in order to receive a full refund of any moneys paid to WDS by the client.
- If the client chooses to terminate the contract after WDS has already acquired the client's placenta(s) for the encapsulation process but contacts WDS BEFORE the encapsulation process has begun, a handling fee of $50 will be owed to WDS (if a greater amount than $50 has already been paid to WDS by the client, WDS will refund the difference.)
